A COMPROMISE

Now On a Fair Way in the Ohio Senate.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 29.—The full senate met at 10 a. m. and without the transaction of any business adjourned until to-morrow morning, by a previous agreement of the two factions. The proposition of the conference committee which has in charge the arrangement of the compromise measures, was submitted to the democratic caucus this morning and ratified. It has also been agreed to by the republican caucus. The proposition is that a special committee of six members, three republicans and three democrats, shall make an investigation of the Hamilton county test cases and report specific findings to the senate.

The conference committee resumed business at 10:30 and expect to have something further to report to the respective caucuses this evening. The fight in the committee now will be on one of the main issues, which is the rules which shall prevail in the contest cases, and whether in disposing of the report to be made by the investigating committee, the three of Hamilton county members shall have the privilege of voting on the fourth. The differences are so great between the sides on this point that it may result in killing all the compromise measures which have been proposed.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 29.—The conference committee at the noon recess had been unable to agree upon anything further, with an indication that they were getting further apart on the main issue.

Suicide Catching.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—A special from Buchanan, Mich., says that P. Cox, about thirty years old, a cousin of Charles Clowes, who killed himself and mistress in a Chicago bagnio, a week ago, bought a revolver in a hardware store yesterday and deliberately shot himself in the head in the presence of four or five men, whom he warned not to interfere.

Out of Coke.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 29.—The Lucy furnace, employing 300 men, closed to-day on account of the scarcity of coke, and other furnaces will be forced to suspend soon, unless there is a settlement of the strike.

Business Failures.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The business failures for the last seven days in the United States were 252; Canada, 37.

Wabash News.

The report is widespread this morning through the Wabash shops and on the road that the shops at Springfield, Ill., and Moberly, Mo., are indefinitely closed owing to dull business on the road. Our railroad reporter interviewed General Foreman Tyrrell, who says he does not believe the report, but says that business on the road is very dull and the shops may be closed three or four days each month until business picks up. The boys here are very uneasy over the news of the closing of the shops in the west.

Mr. John Hewa, our neighbor, was very bad with rheumatism last winter, and was not able to work or even to get out of his room. One bottle of Athlophors cured him almost entirely of the disease. Rev. Samuel Porter, Crute, Illinois.

Judge J. Wes. McBride to-day adjourned the Haze-Hizer case until a week from to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

STATE CHAT

Of a Personal, General and Statistical Character.

Noble county would like a $75,000 court house.

A revival in the M. E. church at Connersville resulted in 325 accessions to the church.

A woman at Williamsport was poisoned by a brand of baking powder the papers will not name.

Numerous papers are suggesting Judge R. S. Taylor, of Fort Wayne, as republican candidate for governor.

Col. R. M. Johnson, of Goshen, who has received the appointment of clerk of the supreme court of New Mexico, under Judge E. V. Long, can make $10,000 a year.

The manager of the state deaf and dumb asylum recommends that the boys be taught to set type. There are 306 inmates and it costs $64,177 to keep them a year.

Miss Leida Welch, Noble county's female lawyer, seeks a position in the office of the state board of health at Indianapolis. Perhaps the law business has not proved profitable.

W. W. Mikels, of Bourbon, has forged notes amounting to $8,200 on farmers of Kosciusko county. The countrymen thought they were signing receipts. Mikels is under bond at Warsaw.

The Goshen band has entered into an agreement with Rev. Dr. Gillette to furnish music for a religious convention to be held in Florida during the month of March. The band will leave Goshen the latter part of February.

There are 360 students attending the normal school at Terre Haute. Robert G. Gillum, the principal of the Anderson schools, has been elected general assistant, and will take the position at the beginning of the spring term.

Mary Flaherty, of Strasburg, Ind., the only attendant of an invalid father, was married on Sunday, against his wish. The bride party returned home from church to find that the old man had expired from heart disease.

The board of trustees of the state university has decided to tender to Judge Bicknell the presidency of the new law school, which the state university is re-establishing, and propose to give the professor such a handsome salary as will tend to induce him to accept.

About forty men in Wells county have just discovered that they have two wives living. The gentlemen were divorced when W. J. Craig was county clerk, and no entries were made of the divorces because the fees were not paid. There is much excitement over the matter.

E. P. Smith's large three-story tile factory, near Muncie, was burned last evening. The factory was a leading industry of the city. Its output consisted of the most improved machinery, all of which, with a large amount of tile, was destroyed. The loss is $15,000; insured for $5,000.

According to the Huntington Democrat Huntington county is not so badly in debt as reported. It claims the actual debt to be $36,099.90 instead of $170,999.90. It deducts the $124,000 of outstanding gravel road bonds, claiming that they should not be counted as county debt.

The Logansport Pharos says that a story is current in labor circles to the effect that negotiations are pending for a gigantic consolidation of labor unions. If satisfactorily concluded, the negotiations mean that the Locomotive Firemen's association, and other branches, will merge into the order of the Knights of Labor.

While the newspapers are filled with details of sickening mine disasters in different parts of the country, it is a singular fact that no great calamity has ever befallen Indiana coal fields. Only now and then a miner is crushed under falling slate or killed by a premature blast. In Indiana the state mine inspector reported last year but eight accidental deaths.

The statistics gathered by the Indiana state board of health show that, during the last fiscal year, there were 16,627 deaths in Indiana, resulting from different diseases as follows: Zymotic, 4,375; constitutional, 2,975; local, 5,964; developmental, 1,179; accidental, negligence and violence, 776; unknown causes, 336; still-births, 1,017. Of the still-births, 601 were males and 433 females. A very remarkable feature of these statistics is, that of the 1,017 still-births, 916 were of American parentage and only 64 foreign.

During the holidays the Entre Nous club of Columbus, gave a select hop at the Bissell hotel, of that city. Miss Nellie Cravens, daughter of J. R. Cravens, of Franklin, was among the invited guests, and was the acknowledged belle of the evening—seventeen years of age, full of life and enjoyment. She fell while dancing a cotillion, striking the back of her head on the floor. She danced on as if nothing had happened, saying she was not hurt. Three days after going home she was taken suddenly ill with a sharp pain in her head and became unconscious. She remained in this condition till last Saturday night, when she died at her home.

The Indiana supreme court yesterday heard argument in the case of the State vs. Andrew Boswell, of Huntington county. Information charging Boswell with assault and battery with intent to kill, was made in an affidavit in the court there and quashed by the judge, the state taking an appeal. One of the points raised is the same as was at issue in the Mackin case in Chicago, which Judge Greham sustained, that is that an affidavit of information in a felony case, is not a "due process of law" in the meaning of the constitution. In state cases, however, it is claimed, the rule is different, for the supreme court of the United States has decided that it is such a process in a case appealed from California. The point has never before been raised in Indiana.

There is much difference of opinion throughout the state among county officers—assessors and others—regarding the terms of office and duties of township assessors. The state auditor is constantly receiving inquiries. He says on the 1st of next April, the auditor of every county should place in the hands of the assessors the blanks for the assessment of real and personal property, as this year the assessment of real estate is to be made the basis of taxation for the next six years. It is the duty of assessors in office April 1 to commence this assessment and continue it until their successors are elected, and then the work is turned over to them. This assessment is of the utmost importance, and should not fail by reason of failure to provide for successors to assessors now in office. The term of office is four years from the April election, 1886, and each succeeding four years thereafter. The terms of those in office expire with the April election, and the new assessors properly qualified.

Mr. Will Fleming returned from Paris, Ky., this morning in response to a telegram announcing the sudden death of his mother. The funeral of the much esteemed lady will occur Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from her late home on West Berry street. Rev. W. N. Webbe will conduct the services.

"The Knell of a Lost Soul" is the subject of Pastor Northron's sermon at the Baptist church this evening. The revival interest is deepening and widespread. Scores are falling into line with Christianity. The lecture room of the church was crowded last night. There will be a deeper interest than ever this evening. The readers of THE SENTINEL are cordially invited.

DAKOTA!

Knocking for Admission to the Union.

The Question in the Senate and the Points at Issue There are Outlined.

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress This Day and Picturesque Gossip.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In the senate yesterday evening the debate on the admission of Dakota continued. Senator Butler spoke on his substitute, which criticized the mode of procedure in Dakota. Senator Wilson espoused the cause of the new state and the debate closed until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when Senator Vest addressed the senate on the question.

Our young sister of the northwest, styled Dakota, who is seeking to make her debut and join the society of her sister states, does not trip up coyly and modestly and ask the assistance or forbearance of her full grown sisters in giving her the proper introduction and guiding her aright in the usages established on such occasions by precedent, but she swoops down on us like the blizzard for which she is famous and attempts to captivate us by her dash or "nervé." At any rate, she is the talk of the town here, as young ladies possessing her boldness are likely to be.

Whether she will be able to win the heart of congress remains to be seen. On Dec. 16 last was the first notice received by the country that a legislature was in session at Huron, where Judges Edgerton and Moody were elected United States senators. Judge Gibson L. Moody, of Deadwood, was born in Cortland, N. Y., in 1832. He entered the Union army at the outbreak of the war, enlisting as a private from Jasper county, Indiana, and gradually rising in the service until he was made a colonel. Removing to Dakota he was made speaker of the assembly in 1863, and was re-elected to the same position in 1874. In the years intervening he served as a member of the house. He was sent as a delegate to the constitutional convention of 1883 and served as chairman of the committee appointed to prepare the memorial to the president and congress, setting forth Dakota's claim to statehood in the family of the United States.

Alonzo J. Edgerton was born in Rome, N. Y., and is 57 years of age. He was graduated from Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., in 1851. When still a young man he removed to Minnesota, and has been intimately and prominently identified with the history of that state. He was a member of its legislature in 1858-59 and in 1877-78, and in 1878 was chosen a presidential elector. From 1871 to 1874 he occupied the position of railroad commissioner, and in 1881 was appointed as United States senator, succeeding Mr. Wine when the latter became secretary of the treasury in President Garfield's cabinet. Dec. 26, 1881, he was made chief justice of the supreme court of Dakota. Both men have been in Washington some time, and attract considerable attention.

At two o'clock Mr. Vest took the floor in opposition to the Dakota bill. In the executive session Mr. Platt submitted a resolution for reference to the committee on rules providing that executive nominations shall be considered in open session. Attorney General Garland has sent a letter to the senate saying that the papers relating exclusively to the removal of officers by the president cannot be sent to the senate for consideration.

HOUSE.

The house went into the committee of the whole with Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, in the chair, on the private calendar. The credentials of J. F. George, of Mississippi, were read and filed. A bill relieving from political disabilities, George S. Stores, of Texas, passed. The house committee on labor to-day instructed Representative James to report favorably a bill making it unlawful for any officer, agent or servant of the government to contract for criminal labor.

The sub-committee having in charge the convict labor question, reported favorably a bill prohibiting the use of material made by convicts in the construction of government works.

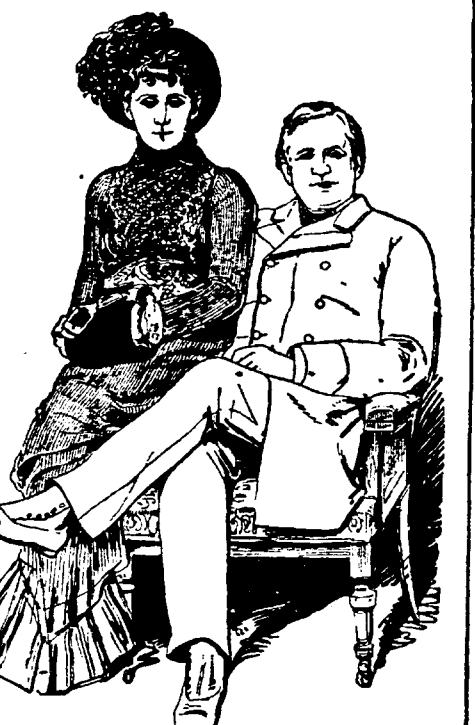

THE BAYARDS.

Personnel of a "Many Daughters House."

The family of the secretary of state has been called a "many daughters house." There were nine children—six daughters and three sons. Miss Kate was the eldest of all. She had lately passed her 28th birthday. The second daughter is Mrs. Warren, of Boston.

But Katharine, the lost daughter, was the mainstay of the household. The mother has been an invalid many years. All social duties, all the domestic duties devolving upon the feminine head of a household, fell to Katharine's share.

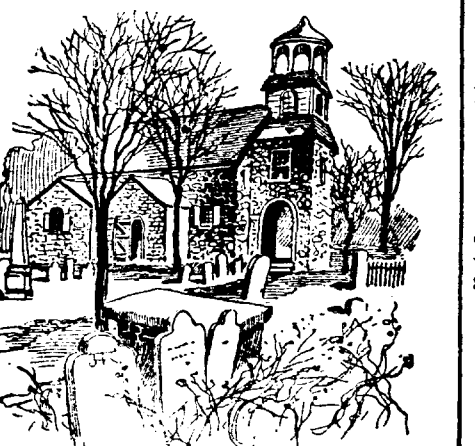

Most of all his children, she resembled her father. She was his favorite, and had been his constant companion for years. She had a sweet, bright face, without being regularly beautiful, was tall, slender, and had a very clear complexion.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

Likenesses of the lamented young lady were very scarce. We have been able to secure one, however, a photograph taken with her father. It is the first portrait of her that we have seen published.

She lived a bright, gentle and busy life. As certainly as the sun shines she died a victim to the heavy requirements of Washington society. An intimate friend used these beautiful words of her: "I never heard her utter a slander or give countenance to an unkind or ungenerous thing of any living being."

THE OLD SWEDEN'S CHURCH.

The funeral scene at the quaint little church that Miss Bayard loved so well was exceedingly touching. The bleak wintry weather; the sombre old-fashioned church interior; the sorrowful faces of those in attendance and the simplicity of the services altogether gave a solemnity to the occasion that words could not express. The distinguished character of the party who surrounded the catafalque in this ancient house of worship was lost sight of in the fact that they were in the presence of death, the great leveler who recognizes neither honor nor title.

This little old church dates back in history to 1693, and traditionally to the days of Fort Christina and the Swedish settlers, who were vanquished by Peter Stuyvesant. The interior of the church has recently been improved by a new setting given to a memorial window bearing the names of the grandfather and grandmother of Secretary Bayard. The latter had had a new frame made for the window, and out of the remains of the old several trinkets had been made for the family. The late Miss Bayard was very much interested in this resetting of the window. It was at her instance that the work was done. The vault in which Miss Bayard's remains rest contains, besides, the bodies of other members of her family. Surrounding it on all sides repose the dust of many of Delaware's most distinguished men.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD.

His Statue For a Cincinnati Park.

After the tragic death of President Garfield Cincinnati outdid all other cities in doing honor to his memory. The name of a shaded spot in the center of the city was changed from Eighth Street park to Garfield place. The sum of $2,000 was collected in 11 subscriptions to build a bronze monument.

BRONZE STATUE OF GARFIELD.

The commission was given to Carl H. Niehaus, a young Cincinnati sculptor of rising fame. His design for the Garfield statue to be set in the grounds of the Capitol at Washington had already been accepted.

Niehaus' models are by far the best representations of the lamented Ohioan that have been made. Their point of excellence is the realism of the large neck, the broad shoulders and deep chest. The work has been objected to somewhat on this account, but this was Garfield. He was a man, and very much of a man, no scrawny aësthetic and despicable. Those who would idealize him make a mistake.

Mr. Niehaus went to Rome in 1884 to make studies for the Cincinnati monument. He has lately returned home with his task accomplished. The statue itself is nine feet two inches high. Those who know President Garfield will recognize in a glance the illustration the faithfulness of the likeness in face and attitude. He is represented as making a speech.

The figure was cast at Rome, in the art foundry of Basinelli. It will be placed upon a high pedestal.

We confidently assert and can satisfactorily prove there is no instance on record of a case of dyspepsia or torpid liver that cannot be relieved and positively cured by the systematic use of Simmons Liver Regulator. This is no vain boast but an established fact; and sufferers from these diseases deny themselves the blessings of health and comfort by refusing to give the Regulator a trial. It is no compound of adventurers but a meritorious medicine which has won its high reputation in countries where torpid livers prevail and where nature supplies the roots and herbs to cure the diseases common to its climate.

EPITHELIOMA OR SKIN CANCER.

For seven years I suffered with a cancer on my face. All the simple remedies were applied to alleviate the pain, but the place continued to grow, finally extending into my nose, from which came a yellowish discharge very offensive in character. It was also inflamed and annoyed me a great deal. About eight months ago I was in Atlanta, at the house of a friend, who strongly recommended the use of Swift's Specific. I determined to make an effort to procure it. In this I was successful, and began its use. The influence of the medicine at first was to somewhat aggravate the sore, but soon the inflammation was allayed, and I began to improve after the first few bottles. My general health has greatly improved. I am stronger, and able to do any kind of work. The cancer on my face began to decrease and the ulcer to heal, until there is not a vestige of it left—only a little scar marks the place where it had been. I am ready to answer all questions relative to this cure.

Mrs. JOICIE A. McDONALD,
Atlanta, Ga., August 11, 1885.

I have had a cancer on my face for some years, extending from one cheek bone across the nose to the other. It has given me great deal of pain, at times burning and itching to such an extent that it was almost unbearable. I commenced using Swift's Specific in May, 1885, and have used eight bottles. It has given the greatest relief by removing the inflammation and restoring my general health.

Knoxville, Iowa, Sept. 8, 1885.

For many years I was a sufferer with cancer of the nose, and having been cured by the use of S. S. S., I feel constrained by a sense of duty to suffering humanity to make this statement of my case. With the 14th bottle the cancer began to heal rapidly and soon disappeared, and for several months there has been no appearance of a sore of any kind on my nose or face, neither is my nose at all tender to the touch. I have taken about two dozen bottles S. S. S., and am soundly cured, and I know that S. S. S. effected the cure after every known remedy was tried and had failed.

ROBERT SMEDLEY,
Fort Gaines, Ga., May 1, 1885.

I had heard of the wonderful cures of Swift's Specific, and resolved to try it. I commenced taking it in April, 1884. My general health was much improved, yet the cancer which was in my breast continued to grow slowly but surely. The bunch grew and became quite hard, and I felt that it must either have it out or die. But it commenced discharging quantities of almost black, thick blood. It continued healing around the edges until February, when it was entirely healed up and well.

BETTY WOOD,
Cohasset, Plymouth Co., Mass., July 13, 1885.

Swift's Specific is entirely vegetable, and seems to cure cancers by forcing out the impurities from the blood.

TOBOGGANING.

THE NEW WINTER SPORT INHERITED FROM THE INDIANS.

Scenes at One of the Fashionable Slides. The Costumes—The Toboggans, and the Improvements Yankee Ingenuity Has Made in Them.

(Special Correspondence.)
New York, Jan. 27.—Our Canadian neighbors have long held a monopoly of the sport of tobogganing. We were compelled to be satisfied with the glowing accounts which reached us of the exhilarating effects of a drop of a few thousand feet down one of their celebrated slides. Last season a slide was in use at Saratoga Springs, and one in Vermont. This winter they have been announced as being in full swing at various points, the most notable one being at Orange, N. J.

The group of Oranges, or the five villages bearing that name, are located on an undulating plateau, about eighteen miles west of New York. The inhabitants are chiefly New York business men, who make it their first duty to look after their own health and that of their families, for which reason they choose to live in this suburban place the year round, rather than risk the effect on health of the confinement of city life. For this reason outdoor sports are cultivated extensively in Orange. There, beside the original settlers of the place were a New England colony, so it is not to be wondered at that they would take kindly to any sport that had the prestige of being popular under the British flag. For in Orange English manners and customs are held to a more reverential observance than in any other town in this country.

(Special Correspondence.)
The above gives an idea of a party about starting, but a picture of the same party a few seconds after they had started would simply be a streak of beautifully blended red and blue. The writer thought that a trial of a toboggan trip down to the valley would enable him to describe it, but he got down there so quick that he hadn't time to collect his thoughts. It was delicious, of course, to be sandwiched in between two such lovely girls as those that patronize the Orange slide, but then that wasn't what I was thinking of. The feeling when we got going was that we had nothing under us to speak of, and the thought that entered my head was the disaster that would follow if the little there was should wear through. I had slid down cellar doors in my time and this was the nearest I had approached it since, and it brought back instantly a reminder of old time consequences. To describe the sensation of speed is utterly impossible, you simply hold your breath and the toboggan rail and feel the wind rushing past, and in a few moments you are there.

If the sport is favored by many such winters as the present one it will not be long before each little town will have its own toboggan slide.

The New York Charity Ball.
(Special Correspondence.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The Charity ball is held to be the swell event of the season here and has been so considered for generations. When the oldest parties who attended the ball the other night were babies in their cradles their fathers and mothers attended the Charity ball of those days. It is a good gauge of the fashions and manners and wealth and social ties of its time. A glance in at the Metropolitan opera house recently while this social event was in full glow called to mind the line: "Oh, Charity, what strange doings are committed in thy name."

IN ONE OF THE BOXES.
People go to the Charity ball for a variety of motives, but it is evident that many of the belles of our present society go there on exhibition. The four tiers of boxes are arranged so as to give one almost as much seclusion as in a parlor, and this fact is taken advantage of by many of the fair occupants to reveal as much of their charms as possible. One thing that would force itself on the mind of the observer of these boxes is the fact that the dressmaker has reached the minimum in the amount of material used in many of the costumes. And that branch of art like many others has reached that point of which it can be said: "Thus far can thou go and no further." S. H. H.

The most stubborn cases of dyspepsia and sick headache yield to the regulating and toning influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

Ed C. Bruner, son of John H. Bruner, president of the board of education at Wabash, died on Sunday night of consumption.

Why do you suffer with backache, pain in the chest, rheumatism, or lameness anywhere when a Hop Plaster will surely give you relief. Druggists sell them, 25 cents.

They are Not Sorry.
There is one thing nobody ever regrets—that is, the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

The wife of Gen. M. D. Manson, lieutenant governor of this state, who resides at Crawfordville, is reported as thought to be recovering, though she is still very ill.

A TOBOGGAN AND SECTION.
The engraving shows how little there is to a toboggan after all. These toboggans look as much as possible like long, broad strips of pasteboard, with one end rolled upward, and with little railings running along the side. Instead of being pasteboard they are made of thin strips of hard wood, lashed together with throngs instead of nails or screws, and rubbed as smooth as glass underneath. The Canadians have been using them ever since they were taught their use by the Indians, but it remained for us Yankees to immediately improve on the ones handed down by the aborigines. This improvement was made at Saratoga last season, and consists in rounding the bottom of each slide instead of keeping it flat, so that it is chiefly the lowest portion of the curve that bears on the ice. The result is a tremendous gain in speed.

A still further improvement was made in the toboggan at Saratoga this season which brought the speed up to about seventy-five miles an hour. This rate was found to be too dangerous, and the use of this style of toboggan has been forbidden. Considerable ingenuity has been brought to bear on the construction of slides. The one in use at Albany was designed by an architect and cost about $1,000.

The cost of these costumes vary from $30, upward. To a slight figure they are a decided improvement, but to a corpulent one the effect is sometimes very ludicrous. They look as much like Polar bears as anything.

ALL READY TO START.
The above gives an idea of a party about starting, but a picture of the same party a few seconds after they had started would simply be a streak of beautifully blended red and blue. The writer thought that a trial of a toboggan trip down to the valley would enable him to describe it, but he got down there so quick that he hadn't time to collect his thoughts. It was delicious, of course, to be sandwiched in between two such lovely girls as those that patronize the Orange slide, but then that wasn't what I was thinking of. To describe the sensation of speed is utterly impossible, you simply hold your breath and the toboggan rail and feel the wind rushing past, and in a few moments you are there.

If the sport is favored by many such winters as the present one it will not be long before each little town will have its own toboggan slide.

Fruit House Bulletin

Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

We are enabled to sell so low simply in consequence of our immense trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumers, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per cent.

Young Hyson, good, 20c; choice, 25c; best, 30c; Gunpowder, good, 30c; choice, 40c; best, 50c; Oolong or Black Tea 20c; choice, 30c; best, 50c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 25c; choice, 40c; best, 50c; English Breakfast, good, 30c; best, 50c per pound.

THE CITY.

John Lease, a Pittsburg fireman, is very sick.

J. K. McCracken has returned from Grand Rapids.

Mr. J. B. White went to New York City last evening.

Wm. Daniels and Anna E. Parks have been licensed to wed.

The superior court jury has been called for Feb. 2, at 10 a. m.

Mrs. R. B. Ingersoll, of Mansfield, O., is visiting Mrs. C. D. Whitnell.

Hon. Henry Monning is entirely well and able to attend to his business.

Conductor Thomas Hall, of the Pittsburg, and his wife, are both quite sick.

Twenty-eight car loads of live stock went east last night, via the Pittsburg road.

A son of Henry Schone, of 225 East Washington street, is down with scarlet fever.

The Free Methodist quarterly conference is in session at the Creighton avenue church.

W. F. McEune, clerk in Supt. G. W. Stevens' office at Peru, was in the city yesterday.

John Linker, an insane patient at the county asylum, is dying and his relatives are unknown.

The police did not make an arrest last night and the mayor looked on an empty court this morning.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Radmacher, of Nashville, Tenn., is in the city, the guest of Rt. Rev. Bishop Dwenger.

The colored jubilee singers, who recently appeared here, were abandoned by their manager at Richmond and cannot get out of that town.

Mr. Mason Long will lecture at Columbia City to-morrow night and Sunday morning. A revival is in progress at the Baptist church there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Keel and their pretty daughter very pleasantly entertained the Wayne street M. E. social, at their home, on Broadway, last evening.

Humphrey & Gerow have been awarded the contract of slating the buildings of the insane asylum at Toledo, Ohio, which will take sixteen hundred square of slate.

Jacq Burke, a Chicago pugilist, is booked to spar at the Metropolitan theater next Tuesday. Captain Diehl will take an important and decisive part in that racket.

There will be a meeting of the Fort Wayne Blue Ribbon club at Temperance headquarters, on Harrison street, to-night. All interested in the cause are cordially invited to attend.

Scott Reiter, a cigar maker, who resides at 381 East Wayne street, was at noon to-day made the proud papa of a fine ten-pound girl. In consequence his friends all smoke choice cigars.

The Mendelssohn Boston Concert company, to appear here February 2, is composed of eminent artists, among whom is Miss Edith Edwards, soprano, said to be one of the finest on the American stage.

Charles Gavison, an old time Wabash engineer residing at Andrews, has been transferred from that point to Springfield, Ill., to take charge of engine 1383 under general foreman, C. F. Lape.

"Miss Anna Shuckman, of Fort Wayne, who has been visiting Mrs. M. E. Fitzgibbon, left for home this afternoon. She is a pleasant young lady and has made many friends here," says the Lafayette Courier.

David Jacobs, the Fort Wayne man who got twenty-one years for killing Milo Bixler up north, will have his case taken to the supreme court. If Jacobs behaves himself in prison he can get out in about fourteen years, as the good behavior law gives five months each year as a reward for correct conduct.

"John Leonard formerly a barber of this place was married one day this week to a Mrs. Crosbie, who formerly lived in this city. They were married in Chicago. It is said that Leonard has a wife and child living in Fort Wayne. If this prove true we may hear another Kapell case in the near future," says the Bluffton Times.

Engine 1332 was sent from the shops at Fort Wayne to Andrews, last Friday, equipped with a snow plow attachment. The engine will run between Andrews and Tilton on trains 69 and 98, except when needed to clear the road of snow drifts at any point between Toledo and Tilton. It is the intention to keep this engine in readiness for any emergency on the road.

The Wabash and Pittsburg-Fort Wayne roads, now post black boards on their depots noting the hour and moment passenger trains arrive. This dispenses of the inquisitive "fellow" who is always asking questions. "Is my train on time?" or "how late is my train." Of course the men do not own the trains but they are just as familiar with them—its one of the beauties of our republican form of government.

A. S. Coverdale and Chester Scarlet have returned from the south.

The Arion society was financially embarrassed by the sangerfest it held here.

The Ladies' relief union met this afternoon in the Third Presbyterian church.

The Wabash people, Monday last, put on a new line of through coaches to run between Decatur and Kansas City without change.

The Fort Wayne polo club again defeated the Muncie boys last night. This made the Muncies very angry and they were thirsting for gore.

There was a pleasant surprise party at the home of J. C. Wagner, on Donglast avenue, last night. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Wagner.

Several poloists deny that the state league has busted. If the league can hold together after the late twist, change, and bust of "contracts," then it is a plausible organization indeed.

It is understood that the Lake Shore will buy up the Nickel Plate bonds and hold them as collateral against an issue of new Nickel Plate division bonds guaranteed by the West Shore.

"The Fort Wayne SENTINEL, one of the best weeklies published in the state, issued a supplement last week filled with the delinquent tax list of Allen county," says the Kendallville News.

The indications for the lower lake region, as reported by the weather bureau at Washington to THE SENTINEL, are as follows: Local rains, generally followed by slightly colder, fair weather.

"The indignation meeting at Waterloo did not amount to much. Free Kelly and three democrats who went in to look on, with about a score of republicans, made up the meeting," says the Ligonier Banner.

Mrs. Anna Jergens will be arrested again for complicity in the recent clothes thefts. Ex-Constable Cruse made complaint against the woman and Prosecutor Dawson filed the papers against her. She may follow the other woman to the state reformatory.

Mr. Dink Trentman beat Ed. Hunsacker in the balk-line billiard contest last night in a score of 100 to 78. W. P. Cooper and Alex. Staub play to-night, Ed Hunsacker and Bob Smith to-morrow afternoon and Dink Trentman and W. P. Cooper Saturday night.

President Joy, of the Wabash, is of the opinion that the outlook for railroad building in the west was never better than now. He believes that the condition of the money market and the faith of foreign capitalists in American securities have been so strengthened that lines which have been projected many years ago may now be expected to have a more material existence.

"The Mendelssohn Quintette club gave their first concert last evening to a large audience at Mercantile Library hall. It would indeed be hard to say much for the musical taste of any city where this company should fail to draw a crowded house. Whatever people may say of Boston—and people will say hard things about Boston—she has given us the Mendelssohn Quintette club, and that covers a multitude of her shortcomings," says the St. Louis Globe.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, when asked whether the cut rates on the Baltimore and Ohio had affected western travel on his road, replied: "Yes, to some extent; but our $1 emigrant rate is in force for thirty days yet and that helps us to keep down competition on that line. We do not propose to compete with the Baltimore and Ohio on first class tickets, but shall remain conservative as we did last year. I think Mr. Garrett will weary of this work before long, and come into the pool."

"Mr. Albert Weichman, of Fort Wayne, made us a pleasant call on Monday. Mr. Weichman is one of the prominent contractors and builders of that city, having recently engaged in the business for himself. He is also the president of the Miami club, a democratic organization of Fort Wayne, and knows a good deal about the politics of that city and Allen county. He thinks Montgomery Hamilton will have a strong following from Allen county for the congressional nomination," says the Kendallville Standard.

On the the Wabash road, on the first district between Andrews and Toledo, there are twelve freight crews, including the three local freights, six of which have the standard cupola cabooses. On the second division, between Andrews and Tilton, there are twenty freight crews, including the three local and two accommodation crews, and thirteen of these have the cupolas. None of these cabooses on the first district are equipped with the regulation seven-inch bulls eye rear lights and but seven on the second district are provided with them.

BUERGLEER BACK.

The Absconding Editor of "Der Weltberger" Arrested on a Wabash Train by Sheriff McGriff.

The fight of J. C. Buergler, the editor of Der Weltberger, a German Catholic paper published here, has been aired by THE SENTINEL. The man secretly left the city last Sunday night and proceeded to Missouri, where his buxom sweetheart lives. Der Weltberger was owned jointly by Buergler and K. J. Bauer. The paper had the approbation of the Catholic church dignitaries and enjoyed a very nice circulation throughout this diocese. Buergler was quite a forcible writer, had served on the leading German papers in Chicago, Cincinnati and New York and held the highest possible recommendations.

The telegraph and miscellaneous part of the Weltberger was printed at Chicago by Wm. Kuhlman & Co. To the Chicago print was added a Fort Wayne department, prepared here, and this made the publication of local importance and interest in this vicinity. This plan is very similar to that now in use by the News and Journal, who get their telegraph plates from Chicago ready-made and add them to their local and editorial departments prepared here.

Buergler was entrusted with money to pay Kuhlman & Co., for work, and his partner, Mr. Bauer, supposed the cash had reached its destination. Buergler, however, put the "stuff" in his pocket and gave the Chicago house $75 and $57.10 notes for the amounts due and forged the name of K. J. Bauer to the papers. In return he would forge Kuhlman's name to receipts and for other debts, to the amount of a few hundred dollars, he sent telegrams that the cash was on the way to Chicago.

Simultaneous with Buergler's disappearance the Chicago house drew on Mr. Bauer for various amounts through the Hamilton National bank and to his dismay he discovered the rascality of his partner and trusted friend. Besides this sort of crooked work, which will foot up something over $500, Buergler made collections on the paper and put the proceeds in his own purse. He beat his boarding mistress, Mrs. Koch, out of $70 and owes Barney Kramer $26 and J. H. Grimme $27.

Mr. K. J. Bauer had condescended to settle all the bills and debts of his absconding partner and relinquish all search for the old man whom he pitied, when Sheriff McGriff, of Adams county, landed the crippled editor in the county jail.

It seems William Kuhlman, of Chicago, followed Buergler to Missouri and caught him at East Loras. He brought him back as far as Peru and there Sheriff McGriff, who was returning from Michigan City, put irons on the fugitive, who wanted to kill himself.

He confesses everything and cried like a child when Mr. Bauer confronted him. He had contemplated suicide and prepared a confession to be disclosed in the event of his death. He denied having an uncle in Switzerland from whom he expected a fortune of $25,000, a hoax on which he established much solidity. He says he used the Weltberger money for various purposes and at a Chicago gambling house he strove to retrieve the lost boodle. Instead, he dropped everything and here related the story of his misfortune.

Messrs. Bauer and Kuhlman settled matters this afternoon and released Buergler, who goes to Chicago to work for the latter. He will not be prosecuted and when all was squared the old man drew from his pocket a revolver with which he intended to end his life.

SET HER FREE.

Addie Eversole Asks for a Divorce From Her Husband.

Addie McC. Eversole this morning applied for a divorce from Theodore W. Eversole, who is an employee of the B. & O. railroad and lives at Garrett. Addie is a very pretty woman and, accompanied by a lady friend, was in court when Mr. Will. Vesey, of the firm of Randall & Vesey, filed the complaint, which, although buried deep in the attorney's safe, we are assured only alleges abandonment. The woman has not long been a resident of Fort Wayne, but she will make her debut into public affairs when the trial comes.

FORT WAYNE IN.

A New Polo League to be Organized in the State.

"There was a rumor to-day that a new state polo league was being organized by Will Patterson, manager of Pattersons rink at Muncie, and other rink men of the state. It was also stated that the following teams were to compose the league: Paterson, of Muncie; Casinos, of Anderson; Mascottes, of Lafayette; Princesses, of Fort Wayne; Logans, of Logansport, and others. The truth of the rumor is denied by the Logans. They say the old league is still alive and promises to live for some time yet," says the Logansport Pharos.

This is pay day on the Muncie road.

A MADMAN LOOSE.

Louis Rhein Escapes from the State Insane Asylum and is Almost Frozen to Death.

Some months ago Louis Rhein, a resident of this city, was adjudged insane, and was accepted at the state asylum for treatment. His relatives supposed the unfortunate fellow safely housed and kindly cared for until he came here a few days ago, clad in thin clothes and almost dead from the cold. He gave but little account of himself save to say that "the asylum people beat him and he ran away." His feet were frozen, his almost bare arms and hands were black with cold and the poor creature verged on death from exhaustion and exposure. His feet are blistered and he has not been able to walk since his return. Rhein was out in all the recent cold weather and evidently walked all the way back from the state capital. This is the second escape from the state asylum of Allen county patients and when some one dies from cold the officers will wake up.

THEY WILL MEET.

The Republicans to Be In Sweet Communion To-morrow.

The Allen county republicans meet in a sort of convention at the circuit court room to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock. But little importance is attributed to it and the only point of interest centers in the selection of a county chairman. Three or four active young men are contending for the empty honor and Harry C. Hanna, Will Wilson and Dayton Aldermen are mentioned by the Gazette. When big campaign boodles were to be handled this position was much coveted, but not now. The official call directs that there shall be elected one delegate for each voting precinct in the county, and one alternate who shall be delegates and alternates to the district convention and there shall be elected the republican county central committee. The county central committee will meet Saturday, February 13, to elect the customary officers and take charge of the campaign of 1886.

The Twelfth district delegates will meet here February 11, to select a state committeeman, and state central committeemen, so chosen, will meet at the Denison house, in Indianapolis, February 25, to elect the proper officers and organize the new state committee.

HE WILL QUIT.

Judge Woods to Leave the Federal Bench Shortly—Who Will Succeed Him.

"It is rumored that United States District Judge Woods, formerly of Goshen, intends to resign, with a view of resuming the practice of law at Des Moines, Iowa, the former home of his wife," says the South Bend Times. The salary of the United States judge is but $3,500, and this is hardly enough for a man of Judge Wood's legal attainments. The senate has passed a bill increasing such judges' salaries to $5,000, but the house is not likely to concur unless the increased salary is made to apply only to judges hereafter to be appointed. The immediate friends of Judge Woods give it as their opinion that unless his salary is increased during the present session of congress, he will certainly tender his resignation. Should this event take place, some good democratic lawyer will have an opportunity to become Judge Wood's successor."

VERY MYSTERIOUS.

Henry Bechtold is Missing and His Friends Fear Foul Play.

Henry Bechtold, a young man who has been at work for the blind broom makers, out in the east end, is missing and his friends suspect foul play. The disappearance of the man was given to the marshal and his men this morning and they are now at work on the case. Bechtold boarded at No. 140 on the Maumee road and was last seen there at 9 o'clock last Sunday night. At 10 o'clock that evening he passed Kohl's butcher shop, but since that moment no tidings of him can be had. Bechtold is eighteen years of age, has some money coming to him and all his clothing is at his boarding house. His parents live at Columbia City, but he did not go there and great alarm is felt for the young man's safety.

Real Estate Transfers.

Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:

Jeremiah Furney to Henry Cummins, by warranty deed, 644 acres in section 35, Springfield township, for $2,500.

Frederick Tyler to Mary R. Wheeler, by warranty deed, lot 48, Rockhill's addition, for $3,000.

"Whom the gods love die young," says Byron; but why die when you can cure the cough or cold which neglected means death? Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup may't be in favor with the gods, for it keeps thousands from their grasp, but mortals, who take it, praise it.

CONGRESSMAN WARD.

A Statesman's School Days in Fort Wayne Recalled.

Many who attended the Brother's school, attached to the Cathedral, in the years 1865 and 1866, will recall James Ward, a bright student, whose home was at Chicago. Subsequently he attended the university of Notre Dame, when Messrs. W. P. Breen and J. F. Beegan were there, and recently he was elected to congress.

The following reference to him is taken from the Washington Post: "One of the democratic congressmen from Chicago is J. H. Ward. He is barely thirty years old, and is worth upward of $300,000. He is a bright lawyer, a good conversationalist, and a fair orator. He is one of the handsomest men in congress. He has taken quarters for the winter at Willards. Mrs. Ward is an accomplished lady, and will undoubtedly be prominent in society here. Mr. Ward is liberal and charitable, but exceedingly modest about his gifts. He has made his wife a present of his entire two year's salary as a congressman."

Mr. Ward has several personal friends in this city and writes that he will visit here this winter, the guest of his personal friend, Mr. Breen.

"Why sit doubled up like an old man, my boy? What's rheumatism! Take the good the gods provide thee, and send twenty-five cents around the corner for a bottle of Salvation Oil, and you'll ride your bicycle to-morrow."

A COMPROMISE

Now On a Fair Way in the Ohio Senate.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 29.—The full senate met at 10 a. m. and without the transaction of any business adjourned until to-morrow morning, by a previous agreement of the two factions. The proposition of the conference committee which has in charge the arrangement of the compromise measures, was submitted to the democratic caucus this morning and ratified. It has also been agreed to by the republican caucus. The proposition is that a special committee of six members, three republicans and three democrats, shall make an investigation of the Hamilton county test cases and report specific findings to the senate.

The conference committee resumed business at 10:30 and expect to have something further to report to the respective caucuses this evening. The fight in the committee now will be on one of the main issues, which is the rules which shall prevail in the contest cases, and whether in disposing of the report to be made by the investigating committee, the three of Hamilton county members shall have the privilege of voting on the fourth. The differences are so great between the sides on this point that it may result in killing all the compromise measures which have been proposed.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 29.—The conference committee at the noon recess had been unable to agree upon anything further, with an indication that they were getting further apart on the main issue.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—A special from Buchanan, Mich., says that P. Cox, about thirty years old, a cousin of Charles Clowes, who killed himself and mistress in a Chicago bungalow, a week ago, bought a revolver in a hardware store yesterday and deliberately shot himself in the head in the presence of four or five men, whom he warned not to interfere.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—The Lucy furnace, employing 300 men, closed to-day on account of the scarcity of coke, and other furnaces will be forced to suspend soon, unless there is a settlement of the strike.

Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The business failures for the last seven days in the United States were 252; Canada, 37.

Wabash News.

The report is widespread this morning through the Wabash shops and on the road that the shops at Springfield, Ill., and Moberly, Mo., are indefinitely closed owing to dull business on the road. Our railroad reporter interviewed General Foreman Tyrrell, who says he does not believe the report, but says that business on the road is very dull and the shops may be closed three or four days each month until business picks up. The boys here are very uneasy over the news of the closing of the shops in the west.

Mr. John Hews, our neighbor, was very bad with rheumatism last winter, and was not able to work or even to get out of his room. One bottle of Athaphora cured him almost entirely of the disease. Rev. Samuel Porter, Crete, Illinois.

Judge J. Wes. McBride to-day adjourned the Hare-Hizer case until a week from to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

STATE CHAT

Of a Personal, General and Statistical Character.

Noble county would like a $75,000 court house.

A revival in the M. E. church at Coudersville resulted in 325 accessions to the church.

A woman at Williamsport was poisoned by a brand of baking powder the papers will not name.

Numerous papers are suggesting Judge R. S. Taylor, of Fort Wayne, as republican candidate for governor.

Col. R. M. Johnson, of Goshen, who has received the appointment of clerk of the supreme court of New Mexico, under Judge E. V. Long, can make $10,000 a year.

The manager of the state deaf and dumb asylum recommends that the boys be taught to set type. There are 305 inmates and it costs $84,177 to keep them a year.

Miss Leida Welch, Noble county's female lawyer, seeks a position in the office of the state board of health at Indianapolis. Perhaps the law business has not proved profitable.

W. W. Mikels, of Bourbon, has forged notes amounting to $8,200 on farmers of Kosciusko county. The countrymen thought they were signing receipts. Mikels is under bond at Warsaw.

The Goshen band has entered into an agreement with Rev. Dr. Gillette to furnish music for a religious convention to be held in Florida during the month of March. The band will leave Goshen the latter part of February.

There are 360 students attending the normal school at Terre Haute. Robert G. Gilliam, the principal of the Anderson schools, has been elected general assistant, and will take the position at the beginning of the spring term.

Mary Flaherty, of Strasburg, Ind., the only attendant of an invalid father, was married on Sunday, against his wish. The bride party returned home from church to find that the old man had expired from heart disease.

The board of trustees of the state university has decided to tender to Judge Bicknell the presidency of the new law school, which the state university is re-establishing, and propose to give the professor such a handsome salary as will tend to induce him to accept.

About forty men in Wells county have just discovered that they have two wives living. The gentlemen were divorced when W. J. Craig was county clerk, and no entries were made of the divorces because the fees were not paid. There is much excitement over the matter.

E. P. Smith's large three-story tile factory, near Muncie, was burned last evening. The factory was a leading industry of the city. Its outfit consisted of the most improved machinery, all of which, with a large amount of tile, was destroyed. The loss is $15,000; insured for $5,000.

According to the Huntington Democrat Huntington county is not so badly in debt as reported. It claims the actual debt to be $36,999.30 instead of $170,999.90. It deducts the $124,000 of outstanding gravel road bonds, claiming that they should not be counted as county debt.

The Logansport Pharon says that a story is current in labor circles to the effect that negotiations are pending for a gigantic consolidation of labor unions. If satisfactorily concluded, the negotiations mean that the Locomotive Firemen's association, and other branches, will merge into the order of the Knights of Labor.

While the newspapers are filled with details of sickening mine disasters in different parts of the country, it is a singular fact that no great calamity has ever befallen Indiana coal fields. Only now and then a miner is crushed under falling slate or killed by a premature blast. In Indiana the state mine inspector reported last year but eight accidental deaths.

The statistics gathered by the Indiana state board of health show that, during the last fiscal year, there were 16,627 deaths in Indiana, resulting from different diseases as follows: Zymotic, 4,376; constitutional, 2,975; local, 5,964; developmental, 1,179; accidental, negligence and violence, 776; unknown causes, 330; still-births, 1,017. Of the still-births, 601 were males and 423 females. A very remarkable feature of these statistics is, that of the 1,017 still-births, 916 were of American parentage and only 64 foreign.

During the holidays the Entire Nans club of Columbus, gave a select hop at the Bissell hotel, of that city. Miss Nellie Cravens, daughter of J. R. Cravens, of Franklin, was among the invited guests, and was the acknowledged belle of the evening—seventeen years of age, full of life and enjoyment. She fell while dancing a cotillion, striking the back of her head on the floor. She danced on as if nothing had happened, saying she was not hurt. Three days after going home she was taken suddenly ill with a sharp pain in her head and became unconscious. She remained in this condition till last Saturday night, when she died at her home.

The Indiana supreme court yesterday heard argument in the case of the State vs. Andrew Roswell, of Huntington county. Information charging Roswell with assault and battery with intent to kill, was made in an affidavit in the court there and quashed by the judge, the state taking an appeal. One of the points raised is the same as was at issue in the Mackin case in Chicago, which Judge Gresham sustained, that is that an affidavit of information in a felony case, is not a "due process of law" in the meaning of the constitution. In state cases, however, it is claimed, the rule is different, for the supreme court of the United States has decided that it is such a process in a case appealed from California. The point has never before been raised in Indiana.

There is much difference of opinion throughout the state among county officers—assessors and others—regarding the terms of office and duties of township assessors. The state auditor is constantly receiving inquiries. He says on the 1st of next April, the auditor of every county should place in the hands of the assessors the blanks for the assessment of real and personal property, as this year the assessment of real estate is to be made the basis of taxation for the next six years. It is the duty of assessors in office April 1 to commence this assessment and continue it until their successors are elected, and then the work is turned over to them. This assessment is of the utmost importance, and should not fail by reason of failure to provide for successors to assessors now in office. The term of office is four years from the April election, 1886, and each succeeding four years thereafter. The terms of those in office expire with the April election, and the new assessors properly qualified.

DAKOTA!

Knocking for Admission to the Union.

The Question in the Senate and the Points at Issue There are Outlined.

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress This Day and Picturesque Gossip.

WASHINGTON

Proceedings in Both Houses of Congress.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In the senate yesterday evening the debate on the admission of Dakota continued. Senator Butler spoke on his substitute, which criticized the mode of procedure in Dakota. Senator Wilson espoused the cause of the new state and the debate closed until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when Senator Vest addressed the senate on the question.

Our young sister of the northwest, styled Dakota, who is seeking to make her debut and join the society of her sister states, does not trip up easily and modestly and ask the assistance or forbearance of her full grown sisters in giving her the proper introduction and guiding her aright in the usages established on such occasions by precedent, but she sweeps down on us like the blizzard for which she is famous and attempts to captivate us by her dash or "brava." At any rate, she is the talk of the town here, as young ladies possessing her boldness are likely to be. Whether she will be able to win the heart of congress remains to be seen.

On Dec. 15 last was the first notice received by the country that a legislature was in session at Huron, where Judges Edgerton and Moody were elected United States senators. Judge Gideon L. Moody, of Deadwood, was born in Cortland, N. Y., in 1832. He entered the Union army at the outbreak of the war, and was gradually rising in the service until he was made a colonel. Removing to Dakota he was made speaker of the assembly in 1883 and was re-elected to the same position in 1874. In the years intervening he served as a member of the house. He was sent as delegate to the constitutional convention of 1883 and served as chairman of the committee appointed to prepare the memorial to the president and congress, setting forth Dakota's claim to statehood in the family of the United States.

Alonso J. Edgerton was born in Rome, N. Y., and 55 years of age. He was graduated from Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., in 1851. When still a young man he removed to Minnesota, and has been intimately and prominently identified with the history of that state. He was a member of its legislature in 1858-59 and in 1877-78 and in 1876 was chosen a presidential elector. From 1871 to 1874 he occupied the position of railroad commissioner, and in 1881 was appointed as United States senator, succeeding Mr. Windom when the latter became secretary of the treasury in President Garfield's cabinet. Dec. 28, 1881, he was made chief justice of the supreme court of Dakota. Both men have been in Washington some time, and attract considerable attention.

At two o'clock Mr. Vest took the floor in opposition to the Dakota bill. In the executive session Mr. Platt submitted a resolution for reference to the committee on rules providing that executive nominations shall be considered in open session.

Attorney General Garland has sent a letter to the senate saying that the papers relating exclusively to the removal of officers by the president cannot be sent to the senate for consideration.

HOUSE.

The house went into the committee of the whole with Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, in the chair, on the private calendar. The credentials of J. F. George, of Mississippi, were read and filed.

A bill relieving from political disabilities, George S. Stores, of Texas, passed. The house committee on labor to-day instructed Representative James to report favorably a bill making it unlawful for any officer, agent or servant of the government to contract for criminal labor.

The sub-committee having in charge the convict labor question, reported favorably a bill prohibiting the use of material made by convicts in the construction of government works.

THE BAYARDS.

Personnel of a "Many Daughters House."

The family of the secretary of state has been called a "many daughters house." There were nine children—six daughters and three sons. Miss Kate was the eldest of all. She had lately passed her 28th birthday. The second daughter is Mrs. Warren, of Boston.

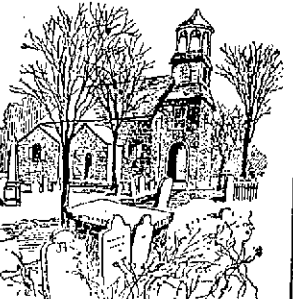

But Katharine, the lost daughter, was the mainstay of the household. The mother has been an invalid many years. All social duties, all the domestic duties devolving upon the feminine head of a household, fell to Katharine's share.

Most of all her children, she resembled her father. She was his favorite, and had been his constant companion for years. She had a sweet, bright face, without being regularly beautiful, was tall, slender, and had a very clear complexion.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

Likenesses of the lamented young lady were very scarce. We have been able to secure one, however, a photograph taken with her father. It is the first portrait of her that we have seen published. She lived a bright, gentle and busy life. As certainly as the sun shines she died a victim to the heavy requirements of Washington society. An intimate friend used to hear her utter a sigh or give countenance to an unkind or ungenerous thing of any living being.

THE OLD SWEDISH CHURCH.

The funeral scene at the quaint little church that Miss Bayard loved so well was exceedingly touching. The bleak wintry weather; the somber old-fashioned church interior, the sorrowful faces of those in attendance and the simplicity of the services altogether gave a solemnity to the occasion that words could not express. The distinguished character of the party who surrounded the catafalque in this ancient house of worship was lost sight of in the fact that they were in the presence of death, the great leveler who recognizes neither honor nor title.

This little old church dates back in history to 1688, and traditionally to the days of Fort Christian and the Swedish settlers, who were vanquished by Peter Stuyvesant. The interior of the church has recently been improved by a new ceiling given to a memorial window bearing the names of the grandfather and grandmother of Secretary Bayard. The latter had had a new frame made for the window, and out of the remains of the old several trunks had been made for the family. The late Miss Bayard was very much interested in this resting of the window. It was at her instance that the work was done.

The vault in which Miss Bayard's remains rest contains, besides the bodies of other members of her family, surrounding it on all sides, repose the dust of many of Delaware's most distinguished men.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD. His Statue For a Cincinnati Park.

After the tragic death of President Garfield Cincinnati omitted all other cities in doing honor to his memory. The name of a shaded spot in the center of the city was changed from Eighth Street park to Garfield place. The sum of $2,000 was collected in $1 subscriptions to build a bronze monument.

BRONZE STATUE OF GARFIELD.

The commission was given to Carl H. Niehaus, a young Cincinnati sculptor of rising fame. His design for the Garfield statue to be set in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington had already been accepted. Niehaus' models are by far the best representations of the lamented Ohioan that have been made. Their point of excellence is the realism of the large neck, the broad shoulders and deep chest. The work has been objected to somewhat on this account, but this was Garfield. He was a man, and very much of a man, no servaney ascetic and dyspeptic. Those who would idealize him make a mistake.

Mr. Niehaus went to Rome in 1884 to make studies for the Cincinnati monument. He has lately returned home with his task accomplished. The statue itself is nine feet two inches high. Those who knew President Garfield will recognize in a glance at the illustration the faithfulness of the likeness in face and attitude. He is represented as making a speech.

The figure was cast in Rome in the art foundry of Bastinelli. It will be placed upon a high pedestal.

We confidently assert and can satisfactorily prove there is no instance on record of a case of dyspepsia or torpid liver that cannot be relieved and positively cured by the systematic use of Simmons' Liver Regulator. This is no vain boast but an established fact; and sufferers from these diseases deny themselves the blessings of health and comfort by refusing to give the Regulator a trial. It is no compound of adventurers but a meritorious medicine which has won its high reputation in countries where torpid livers prevail and where nature supplies the roots and herbs to cure the diseases common to its climate.

David Jacobs, the Fort Wayne man who got twenty-one years for killing Milo Bixler up north, will have his case taken to the supreme court. If Jacobs behaves himself in prison he can get out in about fourteen years, as the good behavior law gives five months each year as a reward for correct conduct.

"John Leonard formerly a barber of this place was married one day this week to a Mrs. Crosbie, who formerly lived in this city. They were married in Chicago. It is said that Leonard has a wife and child living in Fort Wayne. If this proves true we may hear another Kapell case in the near future," says the Bluffton Times.

Eugene 1332 was sent from the shops at Fort Wayne to Andrews, last Friday, equipped with a snow plow attachment. The engine will run between Andrews and Tilton on trains 69 and 98, except when needed to clear the road of snow drifts at any point between Toledo and Tilton. It is the intention to keep this engine in readiness for any emergency on the road.

The Wabash and Pittsburg-Fort Wayne roads, now post black boards on their depots noting the hour and moment passenger trains arrive. This disposes of the inquisitive "fellow" who is always asking questions. "Is my train on time?" or "how late is my train." Of course the men do not own the trains but they are just as familiar with them—its one of the beauties of our republican form of government.

President Joy, of the Wabash, is of the opinion that the outlook for railroad building in the west was never better than now. He believes that the condition of the money market and the faith of foreign capitalists in American securities have been so strengthened that lines which have been projected many years ago may now be expected to have a more material existence.

"The Mendelssohn Quintette club gave their first concert last evening to a large audience at Mercantile Library hall. It would indeed be hard to say much for the musical taste of any city where this company should fail to draw a crowded house. Whatever people may say of Boston—and people will say hard things about Boston—she has given us the Mendelssohn Quintette club, and that covers a multitude of her shortcomings," says the St. Louis Globe.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, when asked whether the cut rates on the Baltimore and Ohio had affected western travel on his road, replied: "Yes, to some extent; but our St. Louis rate is in force for thirty days yet and that helps us to keep down competition on that line. We do not propose to compete with the Baltimore and Ohio on first class tickets, but shall remain conservative as we did last year. I think Mr. Garrett will weary of this work before long, and come into the pool."

"Mr. Albert Weichman, of Fort Wayne, made us a pleasant call on Monday. Mr. Weichman is one of the prominent contractors and builders of that city, having recently engaged in the business for himself. He is also the president of the Miami club, a democratic organization of Fort Wayne, and knows a good deal about the politics of that city and Allen county. He thinks Montgomery Hamilton will have a strong following from Allen county for the congressional nomination," says the Kendallville Standard.

On the Wabash road, on the first district between Andrews and Toledo, there are twelve freight crews, including the three local freights, six of which have the standard couple engines. On the second division, between Andrews and Tilton, there are twenty freight crews, including the three local and two accommodation crews, and thirteen of these have the couple engines. None of these engines on the first district are equipped with the regulation seven-inch bulls eye rear lights and but seven on the second district are provided with them.

BUERGLER BACK.

The Absconding Editor of "Der Weltberger" Arrested on a Wabash Train by Sheriff McGriff.

The flight of J. C. Buegler, the editor of Der Weltberger, a German Catholic paper published here, has been aired by THE SENTINEL. The man secretly left the city last Sunday night and proceeded to Missouri, where his huxom sweetheart lives. Der Weltberger was owned jointly by Buegler and E. J. Bauer. The paper had the approbation of the Catholic church dignitaries and enjoyed a very nice circulation throughout this diocese. Buegler was quite a forcible writer, had served on the leading German papers in Chicago, Cincinnati and New York and held the highest possible recommendations.

The telegraph and miscellaneous part of the Weltberger was printed at Chicago by Wm. Kuhlman & Co. To the Chicago print was added a Fort Wayne department, prepared here, and this made the publication of local importance and interest in this vicinity. This plan is very similar to that now in use by the News and Journal, who get their telegraph plates from Chicago ready-made and add them to their local and editorial departments prepared here.

Buegler was entrusted with money to pay Kuhlman & Co. for work, and his partner, Mr. Bauer, supposed the cash had reached its destination. Buegler, however, put the "stuff" in his pocket and gave the Chicago house $75 and $57.10 notes for the amounts due and forged the name of K. J. Bauer to the papers. In return he would forge Kuhlman's name to receipts and for other debts, to the amount of a few hundred dollars, he sent telegrams that the cash was on the way to Chicago. Simultaneous with Buegler's disappearance the Chicago house drew on Mr. Bauer for various amounts through the Hamilton National bank and to his dismay he discovered the rascality of his partner and trusted friend. Besides this sort of crooked work, which will foot up something over $500, Buegler made collections on the paper and put the proceeds in his own purse. He beat his boarding mistress, Mrs. Koch, out of $70 and owes Barney Kramer $26 and J. H. Grimm $27.

Mr. K. J. Bauer had unyielded to settle all the bills and debts of his absconding partner and relinquish all search for the old man whom he pitied, when Sheriff McGriff, of Adams county, landed the crippled editor in the county jail. It seems William Kuhlman, of Chicago, followed Buegler to Missouri and caught him at East Louis. He brought him back as far as Peru and there Sheriff McGriff, who was returning from Michigan City, put iron on the fugitive, who wanted to kill himself.

He confesses everything and cried like a child when Mr. Bauer confronted him. He had contemplated suicide and prepared a confession to be disclosed in the event of his death. He denied having an uncle in Switzerland from whom he expected a fortune of $25,000, a hoax on which he established much solidity. He says he used the Weltberger money for various purposes and at a Chicago gambling house he strived to retrieve the lost booty. Instead, he dropped everything and here related the story of his robbery by highwaymen to cover up his misfortune.

Messrs. Bauer and Kuhlman settled matters this afternoon and released Buegler, who goes to Chicago to work for the latter. He will not be prosecuted and when all was squared the old man drew from his pocket a revolver with which he intended to end his life.

SET HER FREE.

Addie Eversole Asks for a Divorce From Her Husband.

Addie McC. Eversole this morning applied for a divorce from Theodore W. Eversole, who is an employee of the B. & O., railroad and lives at Garrett. Addie is a very pretty woman and, accompanied by a lady friend, was in court when Mr. Will. Vesey, of the firm of Randall & Vesey, filed the complaint, which, although buried deep in the attorney's safe, we are assured only alleges abandonment. The woman has not long been a resident of Fort Wayne, but she will make her debut into public affairs when the trial comes.

FORT WAYNE IN.

A New Polo League to be Organized in the State.

"There was a rumor to-day that a new state polo league was being organized by Will Patterson, manager of Pattersons rink at Muncie, and other rink men of the state. It was also stated that the following teams were to compose the league: Patterson of Muncie; Cashins, of Anderson; Mascottes, of Lafayette; Princesses, of Fort Wayne; Logans, of Logansport, and others. The truth of the rumor is denied by the Logans. They say the old league is still alive and promises to live for some time yet," says the Logansport Pharos.

Real Estate Transfers.

Olds Bros., real estate agents, room No. 8, Foster block, report the following recorded real estate transfers:

Jeremiah Furney to Henry Cummins, by warranty deed, 64 acres in section 35, Springfield township, for $2,500.

Frederick Tyler to Mary R. Wheeler, by warranty deed, lot 48, Rockhill's addition, for $3,000.

"Whom the gods love die young," says Byron; but why die when you can cure the cough or cold which neglected means death? Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup may't be in favor with the gods, for it keeps thousands from their grasp, but mortals, who take it, praise it.

A MADMAN LOOSE.

Louis Rhein Escapes from the State Insane Asylum and is Almost Frozen to Death.

Some months ago Louis Rhein, a resident of this city, was adjudged insane, and was accepted at the state asylum for treatment. His relatives supposed the unfortunate fellow safely housed and kindly cared for until he came here a few days ago, clad in thin clothes and almost dead from the cold. He gave but little account of himself save to say that "the asylum people beat him and he ran away." His feet were frozen, his almost bare arms and hands were black with cold and the poor creature verged on death from exhaustion and exposure. His feet are blistered and he has not been able to walk since his return. Rhein was out in all the recent cold weather and evidently walked all the way back from the state capital. This is the second escape from the state asylum of Allen county patients and when some one dies from cold the officers will wake up.

THEY WILL MEET.

The Republicans to Be in Sweet Communion To-morrow.

The Allen county republicans meet in a sort of convention at the circuit court room to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock. But little importance is attributed to it and the only point of interest centers in the selection of a county chairman. Three or four active young men are contending for the empty honor and Harry C. Hanna, Will Wilson and Dayton Aldermen are mentioned by the Gazette. When big campaign boules were to be handled this position was much coveted, but not now. The official call directs that there shall be elected one delegate for each voting precinct in the county, and one alternate who shall be delegates and alternates to the district convention and there shall be elected the republican county central committee. The county central committee will meet Saturday, February 13, to elect the customary officers and take charge of the campaign of 1886. The Twelfth district delegates will meet here February 11, to select a state committeeman, and state central committee, so chosen, will meet at the Denison house, in Indianapolis, February 25, to elect the proper officers and organize the new state committee.

HE WILL QUIT.

Judge Woods to Leave the Federal Bench Shortly—Who Will Succeed Him.

"It is rumored that United States District Judge Woods, formerly of Goshen, intends to resign, with a view of resuming the practice of law at Des Moines, Iowa, the former home of his wife," says the South Bend Times. The salary of the United States judge is but $3,500, and this is hardly enough for a man of Judge Woods' legal attainments. The senate has passed a bill increasing such judges' salaries to $5,000, but the house is not likely to concur unless the increased salary is made to apply only to judges hereafter to be appointed. The immediate friends of Judge Woods give it as their opinion that unless his salary is increased during the present session of congress, he will certainly tender his resignation. Should this event take place, some good democratic lawyer will have an opportunity to become Judge Wood's successor."

VERY MYSTERIOUS.

Henry Bechtold is Missing and His Friends Fear Foul Play.

Henry Bechtold, a young man who has been at work for the blind broom makers, out in the east end, is missing and his friends suspect foul play. The disappearance of the man was given to the marshal and his men this morning and they are now at work on the case. Bechtold boarded at No. 140 on the Maumee road and was last seen there at 9 o'clock last Sunday night. At 10 o'clock that evening he passed Kohn's butcher shop, but since that moment no tidings of him can be had. Bechtold is eighteen years of age, has some money coming to him and all his clothing is at his boarding house. His parents live at Columbia City, but he did not go there and great alarm is felt for the young man's safety.

CONGRESSIONMAN WARD.

A Statesman's School Days in Fort Wayne Recalled.

Many who attended the Brother's school, attached to the Cathedral, in the years 1865 and 1866, will recall James Ward, a bright student, whose home was at Chicago. Subsequently he attended the university of Notre Dame, when Messrs. W. P. Breen and J. F. Beegan were there, and recently he was elected to congress.

The following reference to him is taken from the Washington Post: "One of the democratic congressmen from Chicago is J. H. Ward. He is barely thirty years old, and is worth upward of $300,000. He is a bright lawyer, a good conversationalist, and a fair orator. He is one of the handsomest men in congress. He has taken quarters for the winter at Willards. Mrs. Ward is an accomplished lady, and will undoubtedly be prominent in society here. Mr. Ward is liberal and charitable, but exceedingly modest about his gifts. He has made his wife a present of his entire two year's salary as a congressman."

Mr. Ward has several personal friends in this city and writes that he will visit here this winter, the guest of his personal friend, Mr. Breen.

"Why sit doubled up like an old man, my boy!" What's rheumatism! Take the good the gods provide thee, and send twenty-five cents around the corner for a bottle of Salvation Oil, and you'll ride your bicycle to-morrow.
